

MEDICAL CORPS AT SUMMER SCHOOLS

Removable Physical Defects to Be Barred by the Public School Authorities in Omaha.

"Let no school child be hampered by removable physical defects," will be the slogan which will be observed by the public school authorities during the summer vacation at medical inspection centers to be maintained at Long, Cass, Lincoln, Mason, South Central and West Side schools.

Charlotte Townsend, supervisor, will have general charge. Dr. E. T. Manning will attend one of the centers each morning from 8 to 9 o'clock, making the circuit once each week. The regular staff of school nurses will have patients ready for the doctor when he arrives. Treatment of skin diseases and minor operations will be offered without charge to those unable to pay. Cases will be diagnosed and referred to dispensaries. Follow-up work in homes will be done by nurses.

Another feature of the work will be talks on hygiene. Seventh and eighth grade boys and girls who have joined the hygiene clubs of the schools will report to these centers the number of times they have taken baths and cleaned their heads and teeth.

The purpose of these summer medical inspection centers is to keep the school medical situation well in hand during the summer vacation and to stimulate among the children an interest in health and cleanliness.

The centers will be opened on Monday, June 18.

Red Cross Notes

Mrs. Belmont Tiffany, formerly chairman of the Red Cross hospital supply work rooms in New York City, has written G. W. Wattles, chairman of the committee on military relief and chairman of the finance committee, volunteering to come to Omaha to speak on the work of the Red Cross.

"It is possible that she may be asked to come a little later on," said Mr. Wattles.

Mrs. Wilhelm Goes to Chicago—Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm, chairman of the committee on civilian relief of the Omaha Red Cross chapter, has gone to Chicago for the purpose of gaining more enlightenment from Red Cross experts on the work. That this branch of the Red Cross activities is to become one of the most important is the belief of local officials, as requests have already come for assistance from dependent families of soldiers.

Although the committee is as yet incomplete, the following women will serve under Mrs. Wilhelm: Mesdames F. W. Judson, W. R. McKeen, Wilson Low, J. E. Summers, Walter T. Page, George A. Joslyn, Sam Caldwell, Louis Nash, Carles Offut, Lowrie Childs, Herbert Rogers, M. T. Barlow, Barton Millard, Edward Porter Peck and William Archibald Smith.

A course of study is being planned by Mrs. Wilhelm and definite work will begin as soon as she returns from Chicago.

It is possible that Charles Stillman, national director of the civilian relief work in the Red Cross society, will return to assist the organization in the work here.

Omaha Girl Fights Requisition To Return Her to St. Louis Courts

Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, filed in district court by attorneys for Margaret Holton, 23 years old, wanted in St. Louis as a witness at the trial of Paul O. Sommer, prominent Mound City club man, bank director and manufacturer, charged with embezzlement, will be held Thursday morning before Judge Sears.

Deputy County Attorney O'Sullivan, representing the state, asked that the hearing be set over one day to enable him to get further details of the case from the St. Louis authorities. Miss Holton's attorneys are Arthur Mullen and Danic' Horriagan. Miss Holton, formerly Sommer's secretary, was arrested last Saturday by Omaha police officials following advice that she be held here for St. Louis authorities on a charge of "forgery in the third degree."

The young woman and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Holton, who came to Omaha to aid her daughter in the court fight against being returned to St. Louis, are living at the Alsatian apartments.

She is out on bond pending the habeas corpus hearing. Her attorneys said they would fight the case to the finish.

Photographer Fined for Hitting Fellow Craftsman

Hans Mortensen, photographer, 309 South Fifteenth street, was fined $1 and costs for assault on Pat McAndrews, another photographer. McAndrews, while taking a picture, was approached by Mortensen, who informed him that it was necessary to have a permit to take pictures on the street. McAndrews told him that it would be all right and started walking away when Mortensen hit him in the back of the head.

George Stoney Now Buys Government Supplies Here

Colonel G. S. Bingham, depot quartermaster, has placed George J. Stoney, clerk of the quartermaster corps, in charge of purchasing and supply desk to fill the vacancy caused by transfer of C. L. Gyger for service abroad. Mr. Stoney is well known to the merchants of Omaha, as he held the same position before going to the Mexican border for duty in 1911.

Brothers Join the Navy, Enlisting from Omaha

Bert and Paul Jacobson, brothers, have enlisted in the navy. Both boys originally came to Omaha from Louisville, Neb., where their parents live. Paul was office manager for Traver Bros. and Bert was office manager for the German-American Life Insurance company. Both are university men.

YOUR dentist would prefer to be paid for keeping you well. See him often and you will not only save money but ward off many diseases directly due to infection originating in tooth cavities.

See your dentist often and he won't hurt you. He can fill the cavities while they are small, before the teeth are badly injured. He can also advise you concerning the use of tooth brush, dentifrice and dental floss which keep your mouth in condition to resist tooth decay.

The function of a dentifrice is to cleanse—to help the tooth brush remove food deposits. So-called "germicidal" dentifrices are likely to injure the mouth and attack the teeth. The mouth liquids are constantly changing and the direct effects of an antiseptic cannot possibly last longer than 30 minutes.

Ask your dentist if this isn't so. Ask him also about S.S. White Tooth Paste, which is made by the world's best known manufacturer of dental equipment and supplies, and embodies the latest findings of dental science.

Story of the Lusitania One of the Causes of America's Declaration of War.

A little over two years ago today, to be exact, May 7, 1915, the civilized world was shocked as never before when the first news of the world's greatest crime came over the cables from England. Germany, that wholesale murderer of innocents, that arrogant dictator to the world, had torpedoed the mighty Lusitania and sent over a thousand souls to their watery grave.

Back two years ago and recall the incidents of that terrible tragedy. The great ship had steamed out of a neutral port with its thousand-fold human cargo; it carried no armament; its mission was a peaceful one. By all the laws of custom and humanity that ship was inviolate, her passengers were entitled to every right of travel and protection on the high seas.

Little did the passengers dream that Germany would make good her threat to sink the ship and murder the passengers. The very enormity of the proposed crime made it inconceivable; they rested, secure in their belief that no nation civilized or human, would execute what the Prussian government rashly swore to do. Although advance notice of her intention was given by advertisements in the New York papers and anonymous letters to those who had booked passage, hundreds of Americans were not deterred from making the trip. They went, and three-fourths of the passengers and crew were murdered by a U-boat.

The laughter of innocent children was wafted out over the waves. The cry of a fretful baby, but recently come into the world and soon to go out, came floating over the water. The lullaby song at bedtime that night was to be her last. The German submers was to forever end their joys and sorrows—the protection of the waves be maneuvered to a more advantageous position and waited for his prey. The big ship came on, the word was given and the almighty, murderous torpedo was sent hurtling through the water on its mission of death and destruction. The laughter of the children was heard again, then came the explosion. A minute of incomprehension aboard, then the realization, the terror, the horror, the butchery and the wantonness of it.

Like a thief in the night the commander of the U-boat dealt the ship its death blow. In defiance of all the laws of humanity the ship was blown up without warning, struck from behind, as it were. The ship rolled and wallowed in its death agony, settling lower and lower and lower. The grave-cold water reaching up and up grasping the innocent women and children. Death and desolation everywhere. The toll of the U-boat that night was 1,218 dead, neutrals, non-combatants, with never a chance.

There must never be another Lusitania horror, never anything like it again. You can help prevent it by buying a Liberty Bond.

Blood-mad Prussianism must be wiped out. The tragedy of the Lusitania epitomized the ideals of Germany today, the ideals of Bismarck, the Iron Man, and Von Bernhardi the instigator of ruthless sea murder. Today Germany stands unified to commit murder on a vaster scale than ever. They are a people mad with Prussian fanaticism, a people whose hymn is a hymn of hate. Here you have a concrete example of what this nation will do, you know its ideals, you know it will stop at nothing.

This nation, this is the people we are fighting today. Until Prussian anarchy is crushed peace will be a myth and a memory. America needs your help to defeat this foe of mankind and the easiest way to give it, the least you can do is to help.
